Ominous Threat Is Made By Germans

By Associated Press.
London, October 22. — Serbia's military position is critical. Hampered by superior forces on two sides her armies are threatened with being crushed as no army has been crushed during the war.

Not only are these facts admitted in England, France and Russia, but they are reflected in official Serbian statements.

The key to escape from this situation is the speed with which France and England can throw forces north from Saloniki, in the hope of relieving pressure from the Austrians and Germans in the north and the Bulgarians in the east.

The Bulgarians are now battling under the eyes of King Ferdinand. It is the flank attack by the Bulgarians which seems the most menacing to the Serbians.

At few places are the Teutons as much as 20 miles south of the Danube.

In fact, the ground gained averages only a depth of 10 miles.

The Bulgarians, for their part, are displaying tremendous energy, indicative of carefully laid plans preceding the declaration of war.

With twenty miles of the Nish-Saloniki railway in their hands, they have a strategic advantage which it will be difficult to overcome.

London, October 22.—Doubts that the aid of Greece to the cause of the allies can be secured, no matter what inducements are offered, are voiced in the London press.

Suggestions that the British fleet in the Mediterranean be used to enforce the representation made are again heard.

Despite the odds against them the Serbians are not discouraged, according to British and French officers who have been at the Serbian front.

Desperate resistance of the Serbians held the Austro-German forces to an advance of but eight miles in nine days on one of the principal points of attack.

Sinking by the Germans of three British steamers which were detained at Hamburg at the beginning of the war is announced in London.

London, October 22. — Bulgarian troops have driven an opposing force across the Vardar river, in southern Serbia, south of Strumitsa, the German War Office announced today.

The Nish-Saloniki railroad line in the section south of Strumitsa follows closely the course of the Vardar river, and the reported Bulgarian victory may indicate that the cutting of the railway at a new point not far north of the Greek border is either an accomplished fact or is imminent.

Bulgarian forces have had another success further to the north, having reached and occupied Kumanovo, also on the Nish-Saloniki line about 30 miles south of Vranja, where they had previously cut the line, and about 18 miles northeast of Uskup.

Occupation by the Bulgarians of Veleze, in Macedonia, where a great battle was reported to be raging, also is announced by Berlin.

Rome, via Paris, October 22.—From information available here today, it appears that the Greek government is likely to reply to the representations just made by the allies that Greece will abide by her policy of armed neutrality.

Berlin, wireless to Sayville, L. I.—Bulgarian troops have advanced south of Strumitsa and have driven the forces opposing them across the Vardar river, it was officially announced by German army headquarters.

Paris, October 22.—An important battle between Serbians and Bulgarians is in progress on the Nish-Saloniki railroad, about 30 miles south of Uskup.

A message from Athens says the Bulgarians are being assisted in this battle by Turkish cavalry.

London, October 22.—A Petrograd dispatch states the Germans have informed the people of Mitau, Courland, that if they are unsuccessful

Paris reports say inhabitants of Harlebeke in Belgium, are being punished by the Germans because women refuse to do military work for the Germans.

It is said the Belgian food committee had been forbidden to supply food to the town.

London, October 22.—British casualties published since October 1 total 2,285 officers and 50,072 non-commissioned officers and men.

Petrograd, via London, October 22.—Further Russian successes on the southern part of the front were announced today by the War Office.

It is stated that several Austro-German positions and more than 7500 men have been captured.

Amsterdam, October 22.—A German newspaper correspondent at the Serbian front accounts for the relatively small number of prisoners taken by the fact that the Serbian troops "rarely surrender, even in hand to hand encounter."

London, October 22.—A dispatch reaching London from Nish today says official announcement has been made at the Serbian capital that the losses of the Austro-German army of invasion have reached 60,000, dead, wounded and prisoners.

The Serbians are said to have repulsed the invaders.

RESUME TRIAL OF CHARLTON

Como, Italy, October 22, via Paris.—The trial of Porter Charlton on the charge of having murdered his wife was resumed today.

Charlton's physical condition is improved, and it is expected there will be no further interruption of the trial.

A verdict is looked for by next Tuesday or Wednesday.

Twenty witnesses were interrogated today. The witnesses gave contradictory testimony concerning the mode of life of the Charltons and their quarrels.

CARRANZA TO STOP RAIDERS

Brownsville, Texas, October 22.—An active campaign against bandits on the Mexican side of the Rio Grande by the Carranza commander was promised today by the Carranza consul here, who declared an investigation was under way of the reported appearance in Reynosa, Mexico, of Louis De La Rosa, Texas bandit leader, a few hours before the raid on American soldiers yesterday morning.

WILL DISMISS CLENDENNING

Columbus, October 22.—Indications at the state house today were that Governor Willis, later in the afternoon, would dismiss Byron M. Clendenning, of Cincinnati, as Democratic member of the State Liquor Licensing Board, on the ground that he aided in the referendum invoked on the McDermott license law.

At noon the governor announced he was still working on his decision in the case.

It was believed the governor would sustain the charges, basing his action on the opinion of Attorney General Turner that a license commissioner who was active in such a referendum would be guilty of misconduct and might be removed from office.

The commissioner will file an immediate appeal in the Supreme Court he has indicated.

MORE TROOPS WILL PATROL

Washington, October 22.—The 28th Regiment of Infantry has been ordered from Galveston to Harlingen, Texas, by the War Department, as a result of the renewal of bandit raids on Texas border towns.

The troops will be used by General Funston to give added protection to small posts such as that where three soldiers were killed and eight wounded yesterday morning in a bandit attack.

The 23rd Infantry, now at Jacksonville, Fla., will be returned to Galveston as a reserve for use on the border.

IS NOT MILITARY BUT CIVIL JOB

Washington, October 22.—Officials explained today that the army was doing all it legally could to check the border bandit raids in Texas.

The situation, they said, was not a military one, but a civil one under the jurisdiction of Texas.

INDICTMENT AGAINST HUERTA IS EXPECTED

By Associated Press.

Washington, October 22. — After receiving information from Secretary Garrison today regarding border raids, Attorney General Gregory conferred with President Wilson and announced that the number of Department of Justice agents would be increased on the Texas border.

Regarding the case of General Huerta, now held prisoner at Fort Bliss, the attorney general said that he expected evidence would be laid before the grand jury within the next few weeks in an effort to obtain an indictment on a charge of attempting to violate the neutrality laws of the United States.

No request for the extradition of General Huerta has been received from the Mexican government, he said.

ED C. MORRIS IN TROUBLE SOME MORE

Ed C. Morris, piano dealer of Blanchester, who is well known in this county where he was arrested some 15 years ago for embezzlement, was this week sentenced to the penitentiary from Clinton county, after pleading guilty to a charge of forgery. He was indicted upon three counts, and given an indeterminate sentence in the Ohio Penitentiary.

A few nights ago, while confined in the county jail Morris nearly obtained possession of a loaded revolver which his wife had sent him from Blanchester, and only the watchful eye of Sheriff Ben South prevented the man obtaining the weapon and probably his freedom.

Morris got into trouble in this county when he is alleged to have sold pianos and organs for a reduced price and pocketed the money.

CLAM BAKE

One of the biggest affairs ever pulled off by local Elks was the Clam Bake, given at the B. P. O. E. club rooms Thursday night.

Sixty-five members of the Antlered Herd sat down to one of the greatest feasts on record and a jolly good time such as is the special prerogative of the Elks.

That menu—in a class by itself—clam bullion, clams in the shell, baked halibut, lobsters broiled; roast duck, sweet and Irish potatoes and everything that ought to accompany such a spread.

It was splendidly managed by the social session committee; Glenn M. Rodgers, F. M. McCoy, D. H. Barchet assisted by D. H. C. Bowen, the happy instigator. Bert Shimp was chief cook in the Elks' kitchen.

CHINA WILL SHIP BEEF TO U. S. TROOPS

Peking, China, October 22.—(Correspondent of The Associated Press)

China will probably supply the American troops in the Philippines with fresh beef after this year. Major Hugh Gallagher of the United States Army and several veterinarians recently made visits to different parts of China for the purpose of inspecting beef animals and determining whether Chinese beef is suitable for the American Army, which is very particular about the quality of meat supplied to its men.

Contractors in China have signified a willingness to compete for the army contracts in the Philippines. As the Australians, who have been supplying fresh beef to the United States troops, will not be able to compete next year for the contract because of the embargo Great Britain has placed on the exportation of beef, it is likely China will land the beef contract in Manila.

Within recent years there have been several agitations in China for an embargo upon the exportation of beef animals. The complaint has frequently been made in various provinces that meat exportations raised the price of cattle so high that it was impossible for poor farmers to buy the cattle required by them to plow and cultivate their fields.

Will Continue Fight Against Carranza, Says Brother.

DISCUSSES DEVELOPMENTS

Prediction Made That Carranza's Forces Will Soon Be Driven From Sonora—Americans Arriving From the South Expect the Evacuation of Chihuahua City—Villa Forces Said to Be Without Artillery.

El Paso, Tex., Oct. 22.—Colonel Hipolito Villa, when asked if his brother, leader of the Villa faction in northern Mexico, would heed the advice of friends in New York and disband his revolution and quit the country, said: "General Villa will not quit Mexico on advice of friends or foes. He will continue his struggle to free the common people from the rule of landlords and the money class. We know nothing of the report from New York that friends of the general are urging him to leave Mexico and let Carranza and his cohorts spread themselves, unopposed, over all the country, but we know that General Villa is going to fight harder now than ever. If he quits fighting it will be because he can get no more ammunition."

Colonel Villa is his brother's purchasing agent and representative in Juarez. He declared that General Villa is now well on his way into Sonora with his forces, and asserted that "Carranza and his troops will soon be driven from Sonora."

PRESIDENT'S THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION

Washington, October 22.—The following proclamation designating November 25 as Thanksgiving Day was issued by President Wilson:

"It has long been the honored custom of our people to turn in the fruitful autumn of the year in praise and thanksgiving to Almighty God for his many blessings and mercies to us as a nation. The year that is now drawing to a close since we last observed our day of national Thanksgiving has been, while a year of discipline because of the mighty forces of war and of changes which have disturbed the world, also a year of special blessing for us.

"Another year of peace has been vouchsafed; another year in which not only to take thought of our duty to ourselves and to mankind, but also to adjust ourselves to the many responsibilities thrust upon us by a war which has involved almost the whole of Europe. We have been able to assert our rights and the rights of mankind without breach of friendship with the great nations with whom we have had to deal, and while we have asserted rights, we have been able also to perform duties and exercise privileges of succor and helpfulness which should serve to demonstrate our desire to make the offices of friendship the means of truly disinterested and unselfish service.

"Our ability to serve all who could avail themselves of our sacrifices in the midst of crisis has been increased by a gracious Providence, by more and more abundant crops; our ample financial resources have enabled us to steady the markets of the world and facilitate necessary movement of commerce which the war might otherwise have rendered impossible; and our people have come more and more to a sober realization of the part they have been called upon to play in a time when all the world is shaken by unparalleled distress and disasters.

"The extraordinary circumstances of such a time have done much to quicken our national conscientiousness and deepen and confirm our confidence in the principles of peace and freedom by which we have always sought to be guided. Out of darkness and perplexities have come firmer counsels of policy and clearer perceptions of the essential welfare of the nation. We have prospered while other peoples were at war, but our prosperity has been vouchsafed us, we believe, only that we might the better perform the functions which war rendered it impossible for them to perform.

"Now, therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States of America, do hereby designate Thursday, the twenty-fifth day of November next, as a day of Thanksgiving and prayer, and invite the people throughout the land to cease from their wonted occupations and in their several homes and places of worship render thanks to Almighty God.

"In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

"Done at the city of Washington this twentieth day of October, in the year of Our Lord One Thousand Nine Hundred and Fifteen, and of the independence of the United States of America One Hundred and Fortieth.

"WOODROW WILSON."

nora with his forces, and asserted that "Carranza and his troops will soon be driven from Sonora."

The embargo on arms and ammunition remains in effect and not a cartridge has gone across the line to the Villa forces, unless it was smuggled. General Villa is known to be short of ammunition and he can not put up a respectable battle for Agua Prieta. Unless he can get more ammunition American army officers here do not believe his opposition to Carranza will last long.

Colonel Villa expressed his brother's determination to resist the advance of Carranza's army from the south against Chihuahua City and denied reports persistently circulated that plans are under way to evacuate Chihuahua and then Juarez and move all Villa forces into Sonora.

"After we have taken Agua Prieta, we may make some move to establish ourselves permanently in Sonora," said Colonel Villa. "At present we have no intention of abandoning the city of Chihuahua or of leaving Juarez."

Mining men and other Americans arriving from the south at Juarez assert, however, that there is every indication in that city that the Villa forces are preparing to evacuate. They report that less than 3,000 troops garrison the city, without artillery, and that from appearances everybody connected with the Villa "government" is ready to leave.

MUST BE MUCH MORE SPECIFIC

Washington, Oct. 22.—Administration officials are considering changes in the McAdoo plan for a government owned merchant marine, which may pave the way for the passage of the measure at the next congress. The changes by which the president may meet the opposition of Democrats in the house and senate to the plan are: First, a provision defining the specific object of the measure as the development of trade with the Latin-American countries or at most with the Latin countries and the Orient, thus insuring against government competition with other American lines; second, a provision that the government shall not permanently engage in the shipping business, but that when trade lines are fully established the government shall withdraw.

Some of the president's friends believe he will assent to a harmony plan of this character, as the shipping bill, in the form suggested by Mr. McAdoo, seems to have a rocky road ahead, even in the Democratic party.

BIG SOCIALIST ARGUMENT

New York, Oct. 22.—Dr. Scott Nearing, the young professor of economics, debated sharply on the question, "Resolved, That Socialism Ought to Prevail in the United States." With Morris Hillquist, Dr. Nearing took the affirmative and combated the arguments of the Rev. Father John L. Bedford and Professor Frederick M. Davernport, who was a leader of the Progressive party and its candidate for governor. Every seat in the Brooklyn academy of music was occupied, with the audience rather equally divided in its sympathies.

HUMAN VOICE CARRIED ACROSS THE ATLANTIC

Another Achievement Noted in Wireless Telephony.

New York, Oct. 22.—Another epochal achievement in wireless intercontinental communication was announced by the American Telephone and Telegraph company. Observers listening on the Eiffel tower in Paris heard an engineer of the company greet them at the Arlington (Va.) station, 2,800 miles away. The Paris observers cabled the result to this country and word was received that the Honolulu engineers, listening at the same time, heard Arlington say "Hello" to Paris.

The successful transmission of speech from Arlington to Paris marks the conclusion of a remarkable chapter of experimental work begun last June, when expeditions to test wireless telephony were sent out to Panama, San Diego, Mare Island, Cal., Honolulu and Paris. Now all have reported successes.

Paris was the last to be heard from, because of the war, though it is held not to be as difficult to talk across the ocean as to talk from New York to San Francisco. Facilities were limited in Paris to a few minutes testing each day. The Arlington to Paris test succeeded a week ago and was repeated Thursday, but no immediate announcement was made out of courtesy to the French government. Chief Engineer John Carty of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, who supervised the experiments, would make no definite predictions as to the commercial availability of the wireless telephone, but he expressed his firm belief that though there is a vast amount of work yet to be done, it will be possible in a few years to talk from any telephone in New York to any one in Tokyo.

CLEN DENNING AND SECREST IN CLASH

Enliven Proceedings at Trial of the Former.

Columbus, Oct. 22.—At the trial of State Liquor License Commissioner Byron M. ClenDenning on charges of misconduct in office in participating in the referendum on the McDermott act before Governor Willis, the closing scenes were enlivened by the unleashing of pent-up feelings of bitterness between ClenDenning and J. H. Secrest, former Democratic member of the state license board, who has acted as a prosecutor of ClenDenning only in a passive connection.

Secrest accused ClenDenning of shielding a Republican member of the state license board, and declared he had dragged county license commissioners into the trouble. ClenDenning retorted by saying that Secrest had posed as a friend and induced him to talk unreservedly. ClenDenning asserted that Secrest said he had been betrayed by the governor and was not to get a position he had been promised.

At the conclusion of the hearing and previously Governor Willis announced that he would take the case under advisement. It is expected the governor will sustain the charges against ClenDenning and dismiss him from office.

Politically Speaking

Judging from the activity in the rival political camps the presumption that the leaders will allow the people of the state to forget next year's issues and next year's ticket until after the present campaign is concluded, seems wholly without warrant.

The brethren in the Republican household regard the attitude of the present chief executive of the state as of paramount political importance. Endeavoring to determine whether Governor Willis will finally seek the nomination for president, for United States senator or for governor, is excluding the consideration of all other questions even those of the present campaign.

The return of Governor Willis from a long western tour more non-committal, if possible, on the all important subject of what disposition he is going to make of himself and his political aspirations, than ever, has served to intensify the attentions of the political leaders on next year's campaign.

While the avowed candidates for the Republican nomination for United States senator are conceding to each other the right to enter the contest and devoting all their energies to the task of rounding up the party vote, Senator Pomerene, in the Democratic camp, seems to be endeavoring to form political alliances for the purpose of preventing opposition to his candidacy.

The most audacious move thus far made in either political party is the attempt of the Democratic bolters of last year to make political capital, for their own gain, of the popularity of ex-governor Harmon.

While it is a foregone conclusion that Judge Harmon will not accept seriously the efforts of those men who would force his candidacy only for a selfish purpose, yet Senator Pomerene has, judging from the public utterances of his confidential secretary, been engaged in an endeavor to remove a possible opponent by joining hands with the party bolters of last year. Truly a most amazing performance and one which is calculated to bring about the very opposition which the senior senator is striving so hard to stifle.

The people do not take kindly to endeavors of a party candidate to dispose of men who might develop into rivals. They much prefer an open field with success going to the man whose record of public performance merits endorsement. The fellow partisans of Senator Pomerene when once convinced that he has gone to the limit of joining hands with the party enemies will be loath to extend support to him.

The situation in which the Canton man finds himself is an unusual one and unless cleared away, promises to bring about his defeat at the general election, if not in the party primaries next year.

While the efforts of the bolters will come to naught, yet the part which the people will charge Senator Pomerene with having played in their game can result only in harm to his candidacy.

For a New Auditorium

A movement for a new amusement house and auditorium available for public meetings of all kinds, has again sprung to the forefront in Washington.

The crying need for a place suitable for housing public meetings where the people can gather in comfort and hear noted speakers discuss the political and other issues of the day is not new. Neither is this the first time a movement to supply that need has been inaugurated. It is to be hoped, however, that the present agitation will not result, as have those which have gone before, in nothing.

This city has now a population, conservatively estimated, of over eight thousand, there is no place where a public meeting of any size can be held indoors.

When men of prominence in the affairs of state and nation come to address the citizens of the county and city on the stirring issues of the time they cannot fail to be impressed with the fact that they are compelled to speak outdoors.

While it is difficult for the speaker to address an out door gathering it is doubly trying on the audience to stand for an hour or more, especially if weather conditions do not happen to be ideal and those conditions happen to be unfavorable a great portion of the time in all seasons of the year.

Then, too, it seems to be the general opinion that the larger amusement attractions would come here if there was a suitable place for them to "stage" their productions.

While the present movement for a better auditorium is wholly private and while it is not always proper to advocate private enterprises, yet this movement is so nearly public and is meant to fill a public need, it does seem that a word of encouragement is not out of place.

Our citizens should endeavor to make the proposal a success and should see to it that an auditorium large enough to provide for the real needs grows out of the movement.

While the proposal is a "business proposition" in every sense of the word it does seem to be one which should appeal to the man interested in business proposals.

Where there is such a widespread demand there must certainly come a profit to those who supply that demand.

Poetry For Today

INDIAN SUMMER TIME.

The mountains slumber sweetly in the haze,
The twilight glow is rosy like old wine,
And human life is wont to stand and gaze
Upon a scene so chaste, and so divine.

We feel that Nature, weary from the toil
Of pouring fruit and grain in Plenty's lap,
Is overcome, and silencing and moll
Has settled down to take a needed nap.

The leaves are turning yellow, brown or red,
And have begun to tumble to the ground,
The violet and daisy both are dead,
And goldenrod is blooming all around;

The haws are turning black, and seem to smile
Invitingly to urchins as they pass,
The nuts are peeping forth with russet wile,
And cheerful crickets chirping in the grass.

The orchards are a-bend with juicy wealth,
The cider-mills a-buzz with drunken bees,
The air a-tang with rugged human health,
While somnolence is tincturing the breeze;

The creeks are dancing to a sleepy rune,
The singing birds departing for the South,
October clasping hands with smiling June,
Who holds a yellow rosebud in her mouth.

And yet there is a sadness in the air
The spirit of dissolution is abroad,
And is advancing down the Arctic road;

We feel his breath upon the autumn breeze
And contemplate his coming with a dread;
We know his cruel mission is to freeze
And leave the lovely flowers black and dead.

The approaching marriage of Miss Chaunces Depew Haslett, the second daughter of C. W. Haslett, Democratic nominee for mayor, and Mrs. Haslett, and John Earl Christian of Coalton was made known Monday. Mr. Haslett's invitations read as follows:

"You are cordially invited to be present on the evening of Sept. 1, 1915, at the celebration of the culmination of my dreams to grow two blades of grass where one formerly grew and the completion of my ideas of a sanitary dairy barn. After a long siege of three years in construction it is now ready for your inspection.

"Immediately thereafter the marriage of my daughter Chaunces to John Earl Christian of Coalton will take place on the front steps."—Exchange.

DUST CLOUDS OF ALASKA.

Volcano Ashes Make the Hills Appear to Be Snow Clad.

As we approached Kodiak strange dark clouds were seen obscuring the horizon at several points, one of which was so heavy and black that it resembled smoke from a great forest fire. Captain Jensen started us by explaining that this was dust blown by the stiff breezes from the lofty hills all about us. These hills seemed covered with snow, but the whitish deposit proved to be ashes rained down several feet deep upon all this section during the eruption of Mount Katmai in June, 1912. Katmai is still smoking.

The sun looked like a dull silver dollar as it shone through the ash mist. The dust cloud was so thick that it held our steamer up for four hours until the way was clear. Passing your hand over the rail of the boat, you found your fingers streaked with the impalpable gray powder. When we landed at Kodiak we found piles of soft gray ashes and large and small pieces of light, friable stone, like pumice stone, which had been thrown out by the volcano. The explosion of the volcano was heard at Valdez, 400 miles away from Kodiak, and sounded like a cannonading. It was followed by a deposit of fine ashes in Valdez.

In Kodiak the ashes covered everything. They half buried Colonel Blodgett's big cannery on the dock and put him temporarily out of business. They completely filled up a pond four feet deep which had been the skating resort for many years of the children of Kodiak. John A. Sletcher in Leslie's.

CORE OF THE EARTH.

Its Form a Mystery, But the Globe, as a Whole, Is as Rigid as Steel.

The theory that the crust of the earth is only a few miles in thickness and rests upon an intensely heated molten interior is no longer tenable. It is now known that the earth, as a whole, possesses a high degree of effective rigidity, as great as if it were composed throughout of steel. It is no doubt true that the interior of the earth is in an intensely heated condition and that it appears to possess some of the qualities of a fluid. At the same time it behaves in many respects as a solid.

Professor Milne concludes from the velocities of seismic waves at different depths that the materials and general characters of the crust of the earth that are found at the surface may extend to a depth of about thirty miles, but beyond that the material seems to merge into a fairly homogeneous nucleus. This state probably extends to a depth of six tenths of the radius, but the remaining four-tenths form a core which differs in its physical and possibly its chemical constitution from the outer portion. What the state of this nucleus is must be a matter largely of conjecture until we have a fuller knowledge of the state of matter when subjected to the vast pressure such as exists within the earth's interior.

Additional evidence that the earth, as a whole, is at least as rigid as steel is furnished by a study of tidal phenomena and also by the variation of latitude. —St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Squaring the Circle.

The origin of the problem squaring the circle is almost lost in the mists of antiquity, but there is a record of an attempted quadrature in Egypt 500 years before the exodus of the Jews. There is also a claim, according to Hene, that the problem was solved by a discovery of Hippocrates, the geometrician of Chios—not the physician—500 B. C. Now, the efforts of Hippocrates were devoted toward converting a circle into a crescent, because he had found that the area of a figure produced by drawing two perpendicular radiuses in a circle is exactly equal to the triangle formed by the line of junction. This is the famous theorem of the "lunes of Hippocrates" and is, like glauber salt out of the philosopher's stone, an example of the useful results which sometimes follow a search for the unattainable.

A Bearded Freak.

One of the earliest of the American bearded freaks was Louis Jasper, who lived in southern Virginia at about the time of the close of the Revolutionary war. His beard was nine and a half feet long and correspondingly thick and heavy. He could take his mustache between his fingers and extend his arms to their full length, and still the ends of the mustache were over a foot beyond his finger tips.

Appealed to Him.

"I liked the rotunda of the capitol at Washington," said the fat man. "As to why in particular?" "It was several hundred feet in diameter, one of the few apartments I was ever in where I didn't feel that I was taking up too much room."—Louisville Courier Journal.

AGED COLORED FORGER IS RUN TO EARTH HERE

Burns Detective From St. Louis
Trails Crook to This City and Police Quickly Locate Man
Wanted—Man of Many Aliases
Had Passed Check on Local Bank and Was Preparing to Leave City Today.

Trailed to this city from Mounds, Illinois, by M. W. Williams, a Burns detective, William Stokes, alias, Dr. Jones, alias James Henderson, alias Mr. Hicks, colored and aged 75 years, was placed under arrest upon a charge of forgery.

And with the arrest of the man, who formerly made this city his home, it was discovered that he had passed a worthless check at The Washington Savings Bank, the amount of which was $37 and the check was endorsed by a local colored man who must pay the difference between $27.60 the amount found upon him when arrested, and $37, the amount of the check.

Stokes, the name by which he always went while in this city, passed a bad check on the Mounds, (Ill.) bank and as the bank is a member of The American Bankers' Protective Association, which employs the Burns Agency, a sleuth was immediately placed upon the trail.

Detective Williams took up the trail at Mounds and by clever work trailed the man to Springfield, Ohio. Stokes had made himself conspicuous on the various trains upon which he traveled and it was not difficult for Williams to trail him.

In Springfield he quickly located where Stokes had been staying, but found that he had passed a worthless check in that city for $29.30, and left, presumably for this city.

MRS. YOUNG WILL NOT SEEK JOB

Chicago, October 22.—Ella Flagg Young, for six years superintendent of schools has announced that she would resign December 8, when the regular school election will be held.

In announcing that she would not seek reappointment, the superintendent blamed "persistent discussion of the superintendency of schools in the daily newspapers" for her determination to quit. She declared she would have resigned last June, but for the fact that there was a large deficit in the school fund, a condition which she said does not exist now.

Mrs. Young, who is 70 years old, has been active in school affairs since 1862 when, at the age of 16 years, she began teaching. She conducted an educational tour through France, Germany, Switzerland and England in 1904, and on July 30, 1909, was made superintendent.

It had been generally known that the School Board would not consider Mrs. Young's application for another term, if such application were made, and Mrs. Young is said to have "read the handwriting on the wall" and will not be a candidate for the place.

Prof. John D. Shoop, formerly of this county, will be chosen, it is understood.

SECOND VICTIM OF ACCIDENT IS DYING

Herbert Patton, the Cedarville youth who was seriously injured when Miss Mabel Radebaugh was killed as the result of a crash between a motorcycle the couple were riding and an automobile driven by Heber McCoy and H. T. Rennick of near Good Hope, is believed to be dying.

The young man, who is a son of Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Patton, of Cedarville, is suffering from uraemic poisoning and heart trouble which are believed to be the result of the injuries sustained in the mishap several weeks ago.

The death of the young woman was a terrible blow to the young man who has brooded greatly over the tragedy.

In Social Circles

The last affair in a trio of parties with which M. Grove Davis delightfully entertained his young friends was a "roast" in the grove at the rear of the Davis home.

Never was there a jollier roast, nor more picturesque setting. A glorious big moon shown radiantly and dozens of Japanese and pumpkin lanterns added their mellow light, while fodder was stacked throughout the grove, completing the autumn scene.

The merry crowd gathered around a huge fire of blazing logs and roasted wieners and toasted marshmallows on long wire sticks for the tempting picnic supper.

Afterwards there was a marshmallow contest, in which Mary Hagler won a box of marshmallows; a "corn throwing" contest in which Jesse Hagler won a Hallowe'en lantern and ghost stories, and games around the fire.

The young people finally adjourned to the house where the climax of the evening's fun was found in a "Motor Love Story Contest," the prize, a box of candy, won by Avenelle Timmons and David Craig.

Ice cream and cake were served before the party broke up.

The guests were Helen Durant, Maxine Kibler, Alice Parrett, Dorothy Dill, Dorothy Parrett, Beota Haines, Eleanor Jones, Mary Hagler, Avenelle Timmons, Tom Rogers, Cline Deer, Hiram Hitchcock, David Craig, Ira Barchett, Joe McDonald, Jesse Haglar, Albert Haglar, William Murray, Kenneth Severs.

Complimenting Mrs. Joseph Donnell of St. Louis, Mo., Mrs. Roy Reeves of Columbus, who is her guest, Miss Lavin Cockerill entertained the intimate friends of these charming young matrons with a most delightful "Bridge" Thursday. The guests enjoyed the visiting no less than the spirited game in which Mrs. C. Howard Griffiths won the trophy, a lovely corsage bouquet, which she presented to Mrs. Donnell. Handsome towels were the honor guest favors.

It was an exceedingly pretty party with white chrysanthemums and greenery in graceful decoration and a delicious collation following the game.

Mrs. Donnell, whose short visit has not permitted a number of social affairs anticipated for her, was wearing a stunning combination gown of French grey faille and georgette crepe, with velvet hat. Mrs. Reeves wore an effective gown of dark blue satin. Miss Cockerill was wearing a graceful gown of tan tulle.

Mrs. S. S. Cockerill, Mrs. D. T. McLean and pretty little daughter Mary assisted in the hospitalities.

Mrs. Kremer of Uniontown, Pa., was an out of town guest.

The John M. Bell Post entertained the Women's Relief Corps and Sons of Veterans and their wives royally at Memorial Hall, Thursday night.

An elegant chicken pie and roast lamb supper was served, the guests seated at long tables. The lamb, roasted whole and furnished by one of the comrades, L. Ervin Parrett, was decidedly the out of the ordinary feature of the supper.

Post Commander John Hartman had in charge an entertaining program for the pleasure of the guests after the feast. Eloquent talks, pertinent to the occasion, were made by Rev. Vernon Stone, Attorney T. L. Barger and Comrade W. D. Blakemore.

The Wertz orchestra of Millwood furnished spirited music and pretty piano solos were played by Mrs. Fannie Kidd and Miss Imogene DeWees.

The comrades and their guests joined in singing "Marching Through Georgia," as the close of an evening thoroughly enjoyed.

Mr. Joseph Beal, Physical Director of the Y. M. C. A. left Friday for Jasper, Mich., in which city he weds Miss Lena Heckert, an accomplished and attractive young woman, Saturday afternoon at half past two o'clock.

The wedding takes place at the home of the bride and will be a quiet affair, confined to the families and close friends.

After a short wedding trip to Cleveland Mr. and Mrs. Beal will return to this city, where their future home will be made.

During his short residence here Mr. Beal has won many friends as well as popularity in his Y. M. C. A. connection and takes with him best wishes galore.

The ladies of the Wesley Chapel Mite Society spent a pleasant hour together at the home of Mrs. Rogers on Fayette street at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. The meeting was well attended and several visitors, including Rev. and Mrs. Stone, were present.

Four new members were added to the roll.

A very interesting meeting was conducted, and during preliminary business the women decided to hold a sale of home made eatables.

A good program followed the business session.

TEUTONSHAMMER SERBIAN LINES

Germans On the Offensive On Three Fronts.

BULGARS MAKE PROGRESS

Cut Off the Only Avenue of Escape of the Serbian Northern Army. Now Being Pushed Back by the Austro-German Forces—England Makes New Overtures to the Grecian Government.

London, Oct. 22.—The German forces are making progress in their operations against Divinsk and Riga and Serbia. In the Champagne district of France the Teuton attacks against the French lines to the east of Rheims were all repelled.

The Italian advance in Tyrol and Trentino is being carried out in conformity with the plan to relieve the pressure on Serbia. New successes are reported, and it is stated that a general forward movement is about to begin.

While it was expected that the Austro-German onslaught in the north would be the most formidable, as a matter of fact the Bulgarian attack against the Serbians through the valleys from the east are proving the most dangerous. It is now definitely settled that the Bulgars have cut the Salonica-Nish railway to the north of Vranja, thus driving a wedge between the main Serbian army and the Anglo-French forces which landed at Salonica. There is another railway which, branching off at Uskup, runs up the western side of Serbia, but it is a considerable way around and besides, another Bulgarian army, which is now approaching Kumanova, is threatening the junction at Uskup.

Bulgarian successes are admitted by the Serbian war office. The Serbian army in the north, hard pressed by the Austro-German invading armies, is completely isolated from the outside world. Giving way to the pressure of the Teutons and retreating southward the Serbians are bound to run into the center of the Bulgarian chain of armies. At the same time the allied forces coming to the northern Serbian army's aid to save the heart of the little kingdom from being flooded by the Teutonic and Bulgarian invaders, must meet the Bulgarians first. Not only the center, but the northern and southern wings of the Bulgarian invading legion have made progress.

With the rapid sweep westward of the Bulgarians, the people of the allied countries are watching with keenest interest negotiations which are proceeding between their governments and the king and government of Greece. These negotiations are being carried on by the British foreign office.

ANOTHER ONE?

Washington, Oct. 22.—That the note to Great Britain protesting against British interference with American commerce will be sent forward this week was the statement made by a high official. The note has been on President Wilson's desk for nearly two weeks. That it will be regarded by the American public as a vigorous presentation of the American case against Great Britain is the conviction of those familiar with the document. It is understood the tone of the note, while in no wise menacing, is such as to carry conviction to the world that the United States does not intend to permit what it regards as the British violations of international law to pass without earnest protest.

COUNTER CHARGE BY OTTOMANS

Washington, Oct. 22.—Though the Turkish government has not yet made any satisfactory response to the friendly representations of Ambassador Morgenthau with regard to the treatment of Armenians in Turkish territory, the Turkish embassy made a public statement charging Armenians with atrocities against Turks. Abdul Hak Hussein Bey, charge d'affaires of the Turkish embassy, delivered a copy of the statement to Secretary Lansing. It is charged that these atrocities were committed by Russian troops, aided by Armenian and Greek residents of the Caucasian frontier. Crimes against women and peaceful Turks are alleged.

WHITLOCK FILES REPORT

Miss Cavell Said to Have Remarked She Would Be Happy to Die For Her Country—Admitted Aiding British, Belgian and French Soldiers to Escape From Belgium—American Activity in Her Behalf.

London, Oct. 22.—The British government made public the full report of the circumstances of the condemnation and execution of Miss Edith Cavell, an English nurse and head of a training school in Brussels, who was accused of helping English, French and Belgian soldiers to escape from Belgium.

The report was made by Brand Whitlock, the American minister at Brussels, to Walter H. Page, the American ambassador at London. How the secretary of the American legation, Hugo S. Gibson, sought out the German governor, Von Der Lancken, late at night before the execution, and, with the Spanish minister, pleaded with the governor and the German officers for the English woman's life, is graphically related in a memorandum from Mr. Gibson.

This document makes reference to an apparent lack of good faith on the part of the German authorities in failing to keep their promises to inform the American minister fully of the trial and sentence.

Minister Whitlock telegraphed to Ambassador Page on the 12th: "Miss Cavell sentenced yesterday and executed at 2 o'clock this morning, despite our best efforts, continued until the last moment." Mr. Whitlock also stated that Miss Cavell had nursed German soldiers.

According to Mr. Gahan, an English clergyman, Miss Cavell admitted her guilt, saying she would be happy to die for her country.

Mr. Whitlock's final appeal was in the form of a note sent by a messenger late on the night of the 11th to Governor Von Der Lancken, reading as follows: "My Dear Baron—I am too sick to present my request myself, but I appeal to your generosity of heart to support it and save from death this unhappy woman. Have pity on her!"

PARDONED BY KAISER

Madrid, Oct. 22.—Emperor William has notified King Alfonso that he has pardoned the Countess De Belleville, Mlle. Thulier and the other Belgians condemned to death in Belgium for aiding in the escape of prisoner soldiers.

ANOTHER ONE VICTIM OF WAR

New York, Oct. 22.—Anton Lang is dead. The famous Christus of the Oberammergau Passion play, according to a dispatch received by his relatives in Manitowoc, Wis., fell in battle among the corps of troops equipped with skis which the German army formed to combat the French chamois in the Vosges mountains. The message was sent by the German government and is considered authentic. Anton Lang played the greatest role of the passion play twice, the first time in 1900 and again at the last presentation in 1910. He was the natural choice for the next play, five years hence. In private life he was a potter. His shop and his bench were widely photographed.

The Christus of Oberammergau is selected for his resemblance to the Christ he represented as painted by the old masters. Anton Lang's face and physique were such that he might have seemed to have stepped out of Leonardo Da Vinci's canvas of "The Last Supper." Another requirement is that the Christus must lead a blameless life and Anton Lang fulfilled this obligation.

ADOPT A FOUNDLING

White Plains, N. Y., Oct. 22.—Adoption papers were signed in the Westchester surrogate's court here giving custody to Finley J. Shepard and his wife, Mrs. Helen Gould Shepard, of "John Doe No. 104, alias Austin McCleary," a four-year-old foundling found on the steps of St. Patrick's cathedral, New York Sept. 17, 1914. There is no trace of the wife's parents.

NO ACCIDENT IS CLAIMED

Brownsville, Tex., Oct. 22.—Mexicans attacked the town of Ojo de Agua, sixty miles north of here, killing three United States soldiers and wounding eight, according to telephone reports. The dead are: Sergeant Shafer and Privates McConnell and Joyce of company D, signal corps. The wounded include Sergeant Smith and Corporal Calhoun of company D, signal corps, and Troopers Kuble, Bowney, Behr and Langlands of troop G, Third cavalry. Reinforcements were rushed to the town and the bandits fled. Border patrols have joined in the search for them.

It is reasonably certain that at least 100 bandits took part in the attack. They were all trained soldiers, fought under the command of officers, and charged, retreated and charged again and again at the call of bugles. Those found dead wore on their hats in front a ribbon bearing the words, "Viva La Independencia de Texas." Five Mexicans were found dead after the battle.

Otis Harlan, King of American Comedians, Writes of the Personal Side of Charles Hoyt, Playwright

By OTIS HARLAN.

In the spring of 1887, at the Nell House, Columbus, Ohio, I first met the late Charles Hoyt. It was before I ever thought of going on the stage; I had been in Columbus for the wedding of a school friend, Jim Miller, an old circus man, then manager of the old Metropolitan opera house, Columbus, introduced me to Hoyt.

That evening in the historic old hotel I entertained Hoyt and with some comic "cut ups" for which I had a peculiar talent. I lived then at Zanesville, Ohio. I was about to leave for home next day when Hoyt called. To make a long story short, he put me in his play "A Hole in the Ground." He was in Columbus rehearsing for the opening.

I remember that Hoyt was taken into the Elks lodge in Columbus the night before we opened. Flora Walsh was Hoyt's leading woman and he married Flora on July 25, 1887. She was seventeen on July 24th and Hoyt was twenty-seven on July 26 and they selected the day between for the wedding day. Charlie Reed, an old minstrel man, Fannie Stevens and I were at the wedding, which occurred at Charleston, N. Y.

"A Bunch of Keys," Hoyt's first success was suggested by Willie Edowin, who in later years starred in "Flora-an idea and it was wonderful how he would enlarge it. Every time Hoyt told his idea he had some new comedy interest and he built up his plays by telling it over and over again. He would then sit down and write an entire show in two or three days for he had all the construction in his mind.

I have seen Hoyt sit in our Pullman sleeper, even in the day time, with the window shade drawn down over his head, looking out, but seeing nothing but the funny ideas that were tumbling out of his fertile brain. He was undoubtedly the most prolific and most successful playwright that American has ever known. He wrote all of his manuscripts in long hand, later having them typewritten.

Hoyt was a man difficult to approach. His most intimate friends never called him "Charlie." As a man he was cold and reserved. Frank McKee, his partner, even called him "Mr. Hoyt." He was also most economical with the pay roll. For three years I drew $25 weekly. He liked to split the difference in salaries as for example: One actor demanded $40 weekly and got $35, another asked for $35 and got $32.50. But outside business hours, in the cafe or the dining room, he corralled all checks. In business he was close, in social life unusually liberal.

Flora Walsh, loved by everyone, died in Boston while we were playing "A Texas Steer." Hoyt's second wife, Caroline Miskel Hoyt, died in New York city, while we were playing "A Day and a Night."

Poor Charles Hoyt died at Charleston, N. H., in November, 1900. Governor Rollins of New Hampshire had been petitioned to investigate his case by the people who asserted that Hoyt was not insane, but was being kept in charge for some ulterior purpose. I had called upon dora." Hoyt never got a cent of royalty for writing the play.

"A Parlor Match" was developed by Hoyt from an old skit called "The Book Agent." This skit belonged to Evans & Hoyt. The first real financial success that Hoyt enjoyed was his play "A Rag Baby." He had written a piece called "Cezelia," founded on a mythical patent medicine. It was never produced right and it became the theme for the last play Hoyt ever wrote, "A Dog in a Manger."

In 1884 Hoyt wrote "A Case of Wine," which was played in Texas by Charles Bishop. "A Case of Wine" later proved the foundation for Hoyt's play "A Texas Steer," recently filmed with great success by the Selig Polyscope company.

While we were playing "A Hole in the Ground," opening September 14, 1887, in the Fourteenth Street theater, New York city (my first appearance in New York city as an actor), Hoyt started writing "A Midnight Bell," which was first produced in France by L. R. Stockwell in his stock company. Hoyt saw its possibilities and then produced it in the East.

Charles Hoyt had a way of writing about his players' personality and it was while "A Hole in the Ground" was on the boards that he wrote "A Brass Monkey" and put me in to do the song "Razzle Dazzle." The writer of this song, Wm. Barton, was so pleased that he made me a present of the song "The Wild Man of Borneo," which we did in "A Brass Monkey."

Hoyt always produced his pieces for two weeks in the spring around New England, then remained for a week in Jersey City, then closed for the summer, almost ready to produce the piece without change in the fall. Any alterations in the plot he would make in the summer months.

Hoyt has an unusual method of developing his plays. He would begin by telling his intimate friends about Hoyt previously and knew that he was not in his right mind. I have seen him shave himself, in his later years, while wearing a hat and overcoat in sultry weather. He was undoubtedly losing his mind for several years before anyone appreciated the fact. He had a horror of the fleur de lis. Did he spy the device at any time or place he would beat a hasty retreat. He could be very sarcastic at times.

Hoyt had a great fund of stories and his humor was wonderful. Everything seemed to strike his funny side. Even the names of his characters were studies in true humor.

"A Trip to Chinatown" was Hoyt's first failure. It failed to make any money on its preliminary presentation. Hoyt took the show to New York city, engaged the Madison Square Garden, put in a good cast and it went over and was the biggest hit he ever had. Society had never seen that class of stuff in those days.

There is no case on record where Hoyt ever wrote a play for a star. He didn't like to write for people he did not know well. He started "A Black Sheep" for William Hoyt and with reluctance. Before the contracts were signed there was a hitch and Hoyt tore up the contract. Then he sent for me. He told McKee in my presence that he would rather write the play around my personality. "A Black Sheep" was a great success.

"A Contented Woman" was written for his wife. It is as up-to-date today as it was years ago, for it deals with suffragettes. You have perhaps noticed that all of the Hoyt's comedies start with "A." It was just another one of his peculiarities.

CHANGED ONE LETTER.

How a Serious Political Crisis in Canada Was Averted.

At the period when British Columbia was threatening to withdraw from the Dominion of Canada because the Carnarvon settlement had been ignored by the Mackenzie administration the late Lord Dufferin took part in a public function in Quebec.

While the procession was moving through the principal streets a gentleman, breathless with excitement, hurried up to his excellency's carriage to say a "rebel" arch had been placed across the road so as to identify the viceroy with the approval of the disloyal inscription thereon.

"Can you tell me what words there are on the arch?" quietly asked Dufferin.

"Oh, yes!" replied his informant. "They are 'Carnarvon Terms or Separation.'"

"Send the committee to me," commanded his excellency. "Now, gentlemen," said he, with a smile to the committee, "I'll go under your beautiful arch on one condition. I won't ask you to do much, and I beg but a trifling favor. I merely ask that you alter one letter in your motto. Turn the S into an R—make it 'Carnarvon Terms or Reparation'—and I will gladly pass under it."

The committee yielded, and eventually Dufferin contrived to smooth over the difficulties and to reconcile the malcontents.

And Yet They Say Authors Are Poor. Authors may not now spurn the offer of money for their work, but they really do sometimes fail to cash checks, according to the cashier of the Century company.

"I don't know what they do with the checks," he said in complaint to a friend the other day, "unless they frame them. Though acknowledgments have proved the receipt of the checks, I am always carrying on the books corresponding accounts that I can't close up for months, sometimes years. I remember especially one check issued to a famous actor and author. He died a number of years ago. The check was made out anew to the estate. Still it is uncashed. There is more than one author I'd bless if he it is usually he—would only go and get his money."

THURSDAY AFTERNOON,
Unfinished Business.

In recent years football went through a reform period and in the refining process eliminated almost entirely the brutalities which twenty years ago were supposedly absolutely essential to the development of the sport. Practically all unnecessary roughness has been taken out, and manners and methods on the field have been revolutionized. Coaches have discovered that the club which coaches its men to carry the opposing team and resort to roughness not contemplated in the rules loses both time and efficiency as compared with a club that sticks closely to business. Wise trainers tell their men to ignore all attempts of opponents to provoke them to anger and even advise players to take abuse and blows without retaliation, because no team can play football and carry on a fight at the same time.

A radio operator whose station hasn't the talking reach of its hearing power never gets the last word on the other fellow.

Many of those camp drilled business men are saying in their hearts, "My mother didn't train me to be a soldier."
